College (Strategic) Plan Overview

GHC has a college plan that is made up of its vision, mission, and five college priorities adopted by the Board of Trustees on November 19, 2019. Each college priority has a work group, made up of faculty, staff, and students, that has developed a set of objectives and indicators to measure college success toward mission fulfillment. The foundational elements of GHC's College Plan are the Mission Statement, Vision Statement, and College Priorities.

Mission Statement

Grays Harbor College provides meaningful and engaging learning opportunities and support services to enhance the knowledge, skills, and abilities of our students and support the cultural and economic needs of our community.

Vision Statement

Grays Harbor College inspires our students and enriches our community by providing positive growth through learning.

College Priorities

- Enrich student learning
- Promote student, faculty, and staff success
- Foster a diverse, equitable, and inclusive learning environment
- Ensure effective, efficient, and sustainable use of college resources
- Strengthen community connections and partnerships

GHC's College Plan is built on extensive input from students, faculty, staff, and the community. Following the completion of Grays Harbor College's College Plan, with the conclusion of its Year-Seven Self-Evaluation in the spring of 2019, the College embarked on the development of a new college plan via a campaign called Envision the Future. In May of 2019, shortly following the accreditation visit, all-college employees and Board of Trustees members were invited to review the existing mission, vision and core themes and discuss the revision and/or possible creation of new vision, mission, and strategic priorities (formerly the core themes and now called college priorities). Surveys of students and employees were also done, to capture information from those who could not attend the visioning sessions. Additionally, community group input was sought in the summer of 2019 and the college community was given the opportunity to review and categorize the input received. The Board of Trustees adopted a widely vetted Mission, Vision and College priorities in October of 2019. The plan is reviewed formally every seven years, but is revised as needed, based on the principles of continuous improvement (plan, do, check, act).

Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Strategic Plan Overview

Foster a Diverse, Equitable, and Inclusive Learning Environment

Grays Harbor College's mission, vision, and college priorities support and encourage employees, students, and community to embrace a culture of belonging and work for equity in college process, practices, and outcomes. As mentioned above, College Priority #3 is to Foster a Diverse Equitable and Inclusive Learning Environment. Additionally, the college strives to infuse equity, diversity, and inclusion (EDI) across all the college priorities and the daily practices of our College Community through our words and actions. The priorities are each supported by a cross-functional work group that spearheads the priority and helps to encourage and promote collaboration and support across all areas of the College. College Priority #3 is led by the College's Diversity Advisory Committee (DAC). The group pre-dated the priority, but agreed to take on the leadership role when the priority was adopted.

This EDI Strategic Plan pulls together a summary of the related objectives, indicators, and actions from the College Plan into one place to highlight and move forward the work of equity, diversity, and inclusion in a systematic way in support of student success.

Executive Summary of EDI Plan

Summary of How this Plan Meets the Goals of SB 5194 and 5227

As discussed above, GHC has a significant Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion focus in its College Priorities. Since the passage of SB 5194, the College has updated its plans to include the items called for in the legislation. Additionally, the College has hired two positions, one new position and one a reimagined position with specific responsibilities for implementing items related to the legislation. The first is a new Coordinator of Student Access, Inclusion, and Community. The second position is a Director of Campus Life, Diversity, & Leadership, which is a re-envisioned Student Life position that will be responsible for providing leadership for diversity and equity initiatives for GHC Students. The folks in these roles will work in conjunctions with and support the work of the College Priority Work Groups and will provide leadership in cultivating a inclusive culture and campus climate at GHC.

1. Culturally Appropriate Student Outreach Program – CP #5 – 5.1.1.B. and 5.1.1.D.

Working with the Director of GHC's Educational Opportunity Center (EOC), other recruiting staff, and under the leadership of the Director of Admissions, GHC's Coordinator of Student Access, Inclusion, and Community will establish a culturally appropriate student outreach program to communities of color, students with disabilities, and low-income communities during the 2022-2023 Academic Year.

2. Peer Mentoring Strategies –CP #5 - 5.2.1B.; and 5.2.1.C.

GHC will create opportunities for students from minoritized communities to form student-based organizations to mentor and assist each other in navigating the educational system. A student Diversity and Equity Club was envisioned for the 2021-2022 Academic Year, however, with the pandemic making most classes and activities remote, the launch was delayed until 2022-2023. This will be one of several programs and activities for 2022-2023 designed by our Director of Campus Life, Diversity, and Leadership and others that will connect students with the college community and to help them learn to navigate College processes.

3. Faculty Diversity Program – HR Directive 20-02 Diversity Plan; CP #3 3.2.1.D. and CP 3.3.1.A.

Led by the College's Human Resources Division, GHC is developing metrics around the diversity of employees. Under consideration as measures are the diversity of candidates and new hires. The College's focus on diversifying the faculty, staff, and administration—increasing the number of Grays Harbor College faculty, staff, and administrators from a range of backgrounds, racial, ethnic, and social groups, and increasing the range of work, life and research experiences and perspectives employees bring to the College—is not a focus on quotas or numbers. Rather, it reflects the College's commitment to academic excellence, student learning, innovation, and continual improvement.

The Grays Harbor College Best Practices Hiring Guide is provided as a resource to assist search committees, program chairs, deans, and administrators as they conduct searches that support Grays Harbor College's commitment to achieving academic excellence through hiring a diverse, high quality faculty, staff, and administration that values student learning. The strategies and resources outlined in the guide are intended to help Grays Harbor College (a) become more proactive and intentional in its efforts to attract a diverse candidate pool; (b) improve the recruitment and hiring process; and ultimately (c) enhance the quality and diversity of the Grays Harbor College faculty, staff, and administrators while strengthening our focus on student learning.

In addition, a direct relationship exists between recruiting and retaining a diverse student body and a diverse faculty, staff, and administration. As the College works toward its college priorities, diversity and inclusive, and learning-centered pedagogies will be key considerations.

4. EDI Definitions – GHC web site:

<https://www.ghc.edu/studentlife/dec/diversity-definitions>

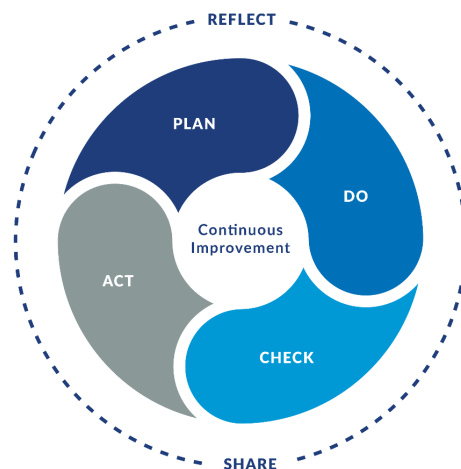

Developed and maintained by the Diversity Advisory Committee, GHC's Diversity Definitions can be found on the web site and as a part of this plan. During the 2022-2023 Academic Year, the DAC will be considering other locations that may be appropriate places for the definitions to be included.

5. Campus Climate Assessments – CP #3 – 3.2.1.A – 3.2.1D

GHC's College Plan implementation is based on a continuous improvement model of plan, do, check, and act. Reflecting on feedback and data around efforts to improve and sharing the results broadly with employees, students, and the community are practices embedded in the College Planning Process and will be a key part of implementing our EDI Strategic Plan.

Assessment around equity, diversity, and inclusion includes, but is not limited to, conducting climate surveys for employees and students. In the winter of 2022 GHC Conducted the PACE Climate Survey, including the Race/Ethnicity sub-scale. Data from this survey was used to inform and help measure the College Plan and its Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Components. PACE Survey can be found on the GHC web site at: [\[redacted\]](#). This spring, the College conducted the Community College Survey of Student Engagement (CCSSE), including the Race/Ethnicity pilot survey to gather additional input to inform the plan.

Additionally, GHC has built an equity index for many of our college success metrics and data disaggregated by race/ethnicity, age, gender, and other demographics are available to the college community and updated regularly. Supplementary data are in data dashboards where employees can review success metrics based on a wide variety of variables.

6. Feedback Sessions – CP #3 – 3.2.1.A – 3.2.1D

Students, faculty, and staff serve on College Planning Committees and are responsible for creating both the metrics and strategies to support the plan. The items found in this plan are a collaboration among several cross-functional groups that include significant student input.

As part of developing its EDI Strategic Plan, the Diversity Advisory Committee sought input from students, faculty, and staff regarding the elements of the plan and any missing components. This information was used to review and revise this EDI Strategic Plan.

As called for in College Priority #3, beginning next year and continuing in subsequent years, there will be in-person listening and feedback sessions for the entire campus community. Input will inform modifications and additions to the plan as appropriate in an ongoing manner.

7. EDI Professional Development & Training – CP #3 – 3.3.1.A.

Beginning in the 2022-2023 Academic Year and building on workshop opportunities provided during 2021-2022, GHC will provide a deliberate program of EDI/anti-racist training for faculty, staff and students. A framework and timeline for providing this training to employees and students will be developed by the beginning of fall 2022.

Additionally, Faculty in Instruction are engaging with best practices around diversity, equity, and inclusion as a part of the division's 2022-2024 goals.

Grays Harbor College Definitions to Support Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion

Currently under review by the DAC

<https://www.ghc.edu/studentlife/dec/diversity-definitions>

Diversity: Diversity includes all the ways in which people differ, and all the different characteristics that make one individual or group different from another. It includes race, culture, ethnicity, gender, age, national origin, religion, ability, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, education, marital status, language, and physical appearance. It also involves different ideas, perspectives, and values.

Equity: The proactive reinforcement of policies, practices, attitudes, and actions that produce equitable power, access, opportunity, treatment, impact, and outcomes for all.

Inclusion: Inclusion has roots in the disability movement, as a strategy for including students with disabilities in mainstream classrooms. Over time, it has come to describe the process by which all students who have historically been excluded and marginalized because of their race, ethnicity, religion, nationality, citizenship status, and gender identity and other social identity markers, can experience belonging, be respected and valued, and fully participate in all aspects of the educational environment. In this sense, inclusion goes beyond mere integration to require the removal of barriers to educational participation. However, it falls short of requiring equitable outcomes or the transformation of institutional power arrangements.

Cultural competence: The National Center for Cultural Competence (n.d.) references the seminal definition provided by Cross et al, 1989: "Cultural competence is a set of congruent behaviors, attitudes, and policies that come together in a system, agency or among professionals and enable that system, agency or those professions to work effectively in cross-cultural situations.

The word culture is used because it implies the integrated pattern of human behavior that includes thoughts, communications, actions, customs, beliefs, values and institutions of a racial, ethnic, religious or social group. The word competence is used because it implies having the capacity to function effectively.

1. Five essential elements contribute to a system's institution's, or agency's ability to become more culturally competent which include:
2. Valuing diversity
3. Having the capacity for cultural self-assessment
4. Being conscious of the dynamics inherent when cultures interact
5. Having institutionalized culture knowledge
6. Having developed adaptations to service delivery reflecting an understanding of cultural diversity

These five elements should be manifested at every level of an organization including policy making, administrative, and practice. Further these elements should be reflected in the attitudes, structures, policies and services of the organization." (National Center for Cultural Competence, n.d.)

Historically marginalized communities: Historically marginalized communities or populations are: “Individuals, groups, and communities that have historically and systematically been denied access to services, resources and power relationships across economic, political, and cultural dimensions as a result of systemic, durable, and persistent racism, discrimination and other forms of oppression. Long standing and well documented structural marginalization has resulted in poor outcomes – health, social, political, economic and overall increased vulnerability to harm. Historically Marginalized Populations are often identified based on their race, ethnicity, social-economic status, geography, religion, language, sexual identity and disability status.” (Department of Health and Human Services, 2021).

Communities of color: The term “of color” embraces Black, Asian, Latino, and indigenous peoples both within the U.S. and transnationally, whose collective marginalization as “colored” peoples and colonial subjects informs coalition politics that cut across many issues. “Communities of color” is sometimes used interchangeably with people of color but can also refer to the geographic areas in which they are concentrated.

Low-income communities: According to the federal government, a “‘low-income individual’ means an individual whose family's taxable income for the preceding year did not exceed 150 percent of the poverty level amount,” as established by the Census Bureau. (U.S. Department of Education, 2021). Low-income communities, then, refers to a collective of individuals so defined (Office of Management and Budget, 1997).

Community organizations: Community organizations, or community-based organizations, refers to nonprofit or grassroots organizations that operate in and for the benefit of a specific community.

Component	Stage One	Stage Two	Stage Three
Curriculum
Overall Goal	The curriculum is only minimally related to diversity and inclusiveness. Efforts to change the curriculum do not explicitly acknowledge the importance of diversity, inclusion, and equity as an asset to developing strong coursework.	The current curriculum reflects a value for diversity, inclusion, and equity in some areas but not all. Curricular change efforts acknowledge the importance of diversity, inclusion and equity but not consistently.	Evidence of a strong value for diversity, inclusion and equity is easily apparent throughout the curricular offerings at the institution. Curricular change efforts integrate a value for diversity, inclusion, and equity as an informing influence. Development of curriculum is an ongoing process in which the college changes by learning from new, diverse influences
Teaching and Learning Strategies and Methods	Few (25%) faculty members integrate a variety of inclusive teaching and learning approaches that are designed to respond to the diverse experiences of students in their classes.	Some (50%) faculty members integrate a variety of inclusive teaching and learning approaches that are designed to respond to the diverse experiences of students in their classes.	Most faculty (75%) members integrate a variety of inclusive teaching and learning approaches that are designed to respond to the diverse experiences of students in their classes.
Teaching and Learning Resources	The campus offers few if any resources to support the development of inclusive teaching and learning approaches that are designed to respond to the diverse experiences of all students in any given classroom. (For example: professional development, teaching and learning centers, mentoring programs, etc.)	The campus offers resources to support the development of inclusive teaching and learning approaches that are designed to respond to the diverse experiences of all students in any given classroom. (For example: professional development, teaching and learning centers, mentoring programs, etc.)	The campus offers many resources to support the development of inclusive teaching and learning approaches that are designed to respond to the diverse experiences of all students in any given classroom. (For example: professional development, teaching and learning centers, mentoring programs, etc.)
Learning Outcomes	Few (25%) faculty have identified the need for diversity, inclusion, and equity learning outcomes for students; student learning outcomes developed in academic departments do not address diversity.	Some faculty (50%) include student learning outcomes focusing on diversity, inclusion, and equity as part of their typical planning and assessment practices.	Most faculty (75%) include student learning outcomes focusing on diversity, inclusion, and equity as part of their typical planning and assessment practices.

Hiring
Overall Goal	Hiring and retention policies and procedures do not address diversity, inclusion, and equity considerations.	Policies and procedures are designed to hire and train a diverse workforce but have proven only partially successful.	The institution has developed hiring and retention policies and procedures that have proven to be highly effective at bringing and keeping individuals who add to its diverse workforce.
Job Postings, Descriptions, and Recruitment	The college makes no organized attempt to create and place job postings and descriptions that reflect diversity, equity, and inclusion and no specific efforts are made to recruit diverse candidates - though there may be scattered efforts and attempts.	The college makes some organized attempt to create and place job postings and descriptions that reflect diversity, equity, and inclusion. In addition, some direct efforts are made to recruit diverse candidates. Best practices are used but may not be fully developed or incorporated into all postings.	Job postings and descriptions clearly reflect the college's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion. Efforts to recruit diverse candidates are consistent and successful. All job posting and recruitment efforts reflect best practices in inclusive language and distribution.
Interviews	The college makes no organized attempt to evaluate a job candidate's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, though there may be scattered efforts and attempts.	The college has made some effort to train interviewers to evaluate a candidate's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion, but the training may not be consistently used or applied. Training may be developed or available but is not consistently or routinely used.	Interviewers are trained to evaluate a candidate's commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion and demonstrate that training and commitment in their interviews of potential candidates. Interviewers are trained in interviewing methods that foster equitable hiring such as awareness of implicit bias, the GHC hiring guide requirements, and other appropriate methods.
Student Onboarding
Recruitment & Outreach	The college has a rudimentary plan for addressing gaps in diversity, equity, and inclusion. There are scattered efforts, but it is not intentional and/or effective.	Recruitment and Outreach have a plan for addressing gaps in diversity, equity, and inclusion, and they are taking some steps toward addressing those gaps. The college conducts culturally competent outreach specifically targeted toward students of color and other non-dominant/historically underserved groups.

For example, placement materials clearly reflect current best practices and cultural competency.
Entry Advising & Registration	The college has a rudimentary plan for addressing diversity, equity, and inclusion in entry advising and registration. There are scattered efforts, but it is not intentional and/or effective.	The college has a plan for addressing diversity, equity, and inclusion in entry advising and registration and is taking some concrete steps to implement that plan.	Entry advising and other entry services are available in all appropriate languages. Staff are trained in and use best practices and cultural competency for advising and assisting students, especially students from non-dominant groups. Registration procedures are efficient, helpful, and supportive, especially for underserved groups.
Financial Aid	The college has a rudimentary plan for addressing diversity, equity, and inclusion in financial aid, especially in regard to grants and scholarships. There are scattered efforts, but they are not intentional and/or effective.	The college has a plan for addressing diversity, equity, and inclusion in financial aid and is taking some concrete steps to implement that plan, including efforts to equitably award scholarships and grants.	Financial Aid has a clear plan for increasing diversity, equity, and inclusion in its services and takes concrete steps to address any gaps. For example, scholarships and grants are awarded equitably.
Diversity &amp; Equity Center
Facilities	The Diversity and Equity Center exists and is used occasionally for meetings. Some resources are available but they are not fully developed.	The Diversity and Equity Center has set hours when it is available to students, though the schedule and services could use improvement. Some scheduled events and services are held and designed to support students.	The Diversity and Equity Center has clear hours, services, and availability to all students. Funding is provided to maintain and update the space as needed. Art, books, and other resources are available to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion.
Staffing	Staffing is limited to volunteer efforts by a few students/faculty/staff.	There are staff members with training in best practices for fostering Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion and at least part of their set duties include overseeing and staffing the Diversity and Equity Center.	There is a clear plan for staffing the Diversity and Equity Center, with dedicated funding and/or time allotted to those duties. Staff members and volunteers are trained in best practices for fostering Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion.
Campus Commitment and Involvement	While some students, staff, and faculty know of the existence of the center, its purpose and role on campus is unclear and not fully supported.	The college has made some dedicated effort to promoting the success of the Diversity and Equity Center and the Center is known for providing some valuable services to students.	The success of the Diversity and Equity Center is considered central to the mission of GHC. Events and services provided by the Center are promoted, well attended, and highly regarded

Appendix 3: Guided Pathways Rubric

Guided Pathways Equity-Minded Decision-Making Reflection Questions

When making key decisions about implementing aspects of guided pathways, consider and address the following questions before implementation. Adjust as needed based on your reflection.

☐ Who is impacted by this decision? Who benefits and who is burdened?

Criteria: Students are positively impacted by the decision. Students and the most amount of underserved constituent groups benefit. Few are burdened. Barriers are removed. The decision will deconstruct systemic barriers and move towards equity-minded action.

☐ What are the potential unintended consequences of this decision?

Criteria: All possible contingencies are considered. If there is an undue burden/consequence, the decision is revisited or the option is revamped.

☐ Have you considered or engaged minoritized voices? Where all the right constituents “at the table?”

Criteria: All voices were considered and engaged. Engage and seek additional feedback if not enough constituent groups were at the table. Recognize there may be a difference in approach to soliciting feedback by race and the confluence of student identities.

☐ How transparent was the process that led up to deciding? What is the plan for transparency when implementing the decision?

Criteria: All decisions are made and implemented in the spirit of transparency. The loop is routinely closed.

☐ How does this decision impact equity in student access and completion?

Criteria: Decisions need to improve equity in access and completion for all. Because equity is not always equal, one-size does not fit all. Differing levels of interventions need to address/support differing constituent groups or priorities.

☐ How does this decision support the mission, vision, and principles of guided pathways overall?

Criteria: Review mission, vision, principles to ensure alignment.

End Notes

<sup>i</sup> HU-SoC: Historically Underserved Students of Color. This grouping includes student who have self-identified as at least one of: Black or African American, Latino or Hispanic, American Indian or Alaska Native, or Pacific Islander, including Native Hawai’ian. GHC understands that aggregation disguises and hides individual stories and differences in data. However, when GHC uses the IPEDS Race/Ethnicity categories, counts in some categories are small enough to be personally identifiable. In order to protect personally identifiable information, the HU-SOC aggregate is used in external reports. Data disaggregated by race/ethnicity is available internally to employees to better inform decision making and planning.

<sup>ii</sup> An Equity Index is a ratio that demonstrates whether the target population is over- or under-represented in the population of successful students. Ratio values below 1.0 indicate the target population is under-represented. Moving the ratio closer to one shows a narrowing of the gap.

The Equity Index is based on work from the USC Center for Urban Education.

GHC aggregates the most recent 3 years of data when calculating an Equity Index.
