An overview of Senate bills 5227 and 5194 was reviewed. They are a system-wide approach to ensuring equitable access and educational success for all residents, particularly for students from communities of color, disabilities and low-income communities. Comments from Board members included the following:

Dr. Carthum - He is concerned about the low conversion rate from a person filling out an application to enrolling.

Ms. Aveledo - Our community has special needs. Many potential students with great skills have a fear of testing which prevents them from considering college. It is important they interact with a person who walks them through the process.

Mr. Sayce – It is important to understand how young people are influenced and reach them at a young age.

Ms. Esty – She agreed with Ms. Aveledo that often times a prospective student doesn’t know where to start. It is important for them to meet with a person who reassures them there are services available, including assisting them with their financial aid application.

Dr. Carthum – Students do better when they have colleagues to confer with. Not having many students on campus affects that connection.

Mr. Sayce - The Port of Willapa Harbor is in negotiations to acquire a large parcel of land in South Bend and one of the thoughts is to support entrepreneurship/small business development. There is interest in rethinking the purpose of the Riverview Education Center in Raymond to make it more relevant to the area with respect to small business development training. Dr. Brewster responded that we need to look at the best utilization of the Riverview Center. It has been under-utilized the last few years.

Dr. Carthum thanked presenters for the informative information.
